

I hope ye are keeping good and are enjoying the good weather. Did you like the Story "A Long Way From Home" I have a new one for you this week, I'm sure you will like it, It's called "Shh Don't Wake the Baby".

Below is a menu of activities you can do this week. As always the work suggested is a guideline, a menu of activities and everything is optional. Don't underestimate the importance of play. It is through this genuine discovery that children from Infants to Sixth class engage in creative and critical thinking and develop their real problem solving skills and capabilities (not just maths problem solving). And it is through an opportunity like this, that these skills are developed. The school setting creates contrived situations to develop these skills within very confined time frames, but it is through the children's own open ended questions, curiosity and experimentation that these skills are really developed. Allow your child to explore and respond in their own way. Feel free to take out the suggested homework if they complain of being bored.

Remember as always I am here to support you and your child and if you have any concerns please drop me an email and I will get back to you as soon as possible. hkelly.burranens@gmail.com.

Don't forget to keep washing your hands and keep practicing the social distancing guidelines.

Ms. Helen Kelly.
